Stella, Josh came in the bathroom and asked if he could show her. Josh went through a teenage phase where he was more interested in "teenage" things and this was the first time in over a year that he asked to show a dog. I figured even though he was out of practice showing a dog we had nothing to lose and I was just so happy to see him interested in dogs again we quickly packed his bag too.

We got to the show that weekend and it was like they were always showing together. Watching the two of them in the ring together I couldn't believe what a beautiful team they made. It was great to see my thoughts confirmed when Josh and Stella went all the way to Best in Multi-Breed show their first time in the ring together. After the first show I was optimistic but still very reserved. By the end of the weekend Stella had a BIMBS, two RBIMBS, a Group 1, and a Grand Champion class win. Stella and Josh continued their winning streak though the month of July and went from 0 Breed points in the beginning of July to the #2 Eskie with 89 points by the end of the month.

Stella and Josh continued to be an almost unstoppable team the rest of the year. We were lucky enough to save a little and let Josh take Stella to California for a show and the new UKC Gateway Nationals in St Louis. I had the honor of presenting Stella in Oklahoma for the UKC Nationals and shocked everyone back home when they found out that I was the one showing her when she won. I'm the one behind the scenes; Josh is the handler. From the beginning of July through the end of November, Stella ended winning National Grand Champion / National Best of Breed, 8 Best in Multi-Breed Shows, 5 Reserve BIMBS, 11 Group 1's, 3 Group 2's and a Group 4.

We were excited when Josh got his focus back and wanted to start showing dogs again. When Josh and Stella continued showing and winning the way they were, we were amazed. Watching Stella grow from a little puppy whelped in our living room all the way to a beautiful example of the breed and #1 for 2010 was beyond our wildest dreams. There really is no way to put in words how grateful we are to all the wonderful judges who recognized our little girl throughout the year.

Thank you
Rob Brown, Greg Mann, and Josh Brown

A couple of matters are still in process from the fall membership and Board of Directors meeting . One is the decision on mailing out a hard copy of the newsletter. Another is the upcoming vote on the Breed Standard change recommendation. The newsletter decision was to have been made by the BOD a couple of months ago but incomplete financial information caused the vote to be delayed. I had submitted a ballot to the BOD and the vote was in process. But when the incomplete financial information piece became apparent and after talking to the parliamentarian I decided to postpone the vote until that information was available to the BOD. Between illnesses, vacations, and computer software issues that information is not available yet. I have been assured that information will be available soon by Jim Binick, chair of the Financial Committee. At that time I will ask the BOD again to vote on the matter. It is important enough to take the time to make sure the decision is based on correct information. In the meantime the newsletter will continue to be distributed electronically and in hard copy version to those that have paid the extra $25. We will have to address the matter of what will happen to the $25 payment from those persons if everyone household hard copy distribution is approved.

The other matter is the breed standard recommendation vote. A decision was made to use the close of 2010 membership roster as the voting roster. Because this is an issue that has created strong feelings on all sides and because the vote earlier was very close, people want to make sure that roster is correct. The vote will be counted at the 2011 fall meeting in Washington. A cover letter will be included with the ballot on the differences between the proposal voted on in 2010 and the new proposal.

I am sure it is frustrating for matters such as this to take so long to resolve, but such is the nature of a volunteer organization.

Please take note of the application for the 2011 Junior Showmanship Premier Sponsorship Program. Also I want to make note of the Purina program that gives our organization money for Canine Health Support Program and financial support of our organization itself. This support can be used to support programs such a rescue. I promise to continue to highlight this program in the future.

Vice-President's Report

2011 is an election year for the NAEDA, so start thinking about volunteering for an office in your national club.

There has been quite a bit of complaining about how this club is being governed, so how about stepping up to the plate and making it what YOU as MEMBERS want.

Nothing is going to change, unless someone changes it, one person at a time. If you have new ideas, or think something could be better, there is only one way to do it. VOLUNTEER, VOLUNTEER, VOLUNTEER. Toss your hat in the ring for an office that you would like to see changed.

I know it's early in the year to start thinking of this fall, but time has a habit of flying by. Before you know it, it's time to vote, and we need all of you to vote your opinion.

More Than Just a Pretty Face

The American Eskimo Dog, then known as the Spitz, was brought to this country by German settlers in the early 1800s. In my recent judging seminars, I have been asked how this dog came to be known as the American Eskimo Dog. In 1917, during the First World War, anti-German sentiment was rampant in the United States. By this time the dog, now known as the American Eskimo Dog, was simply known as the Spitz, a German term. Due to this anti-German sentiment, the dog was renamed the American Eskimo Dog. Some believe that the dog was renamed due to his resemblance to the Nordic sled dog. This is not the case. At that time, there was a popular kennel in Ohio called the American Eskimo kennel. The dog was renamed after that popular kennel and has been known as the American Eskimo or the American Eskimo Dog since that time.

The American Eskimo Dog was used by these German settlers not only as a companion dog, but as a working farm dog and a guard dog as well. In that century, a dog had to pull his weight, or earn his keep, sort of speak.

Today's breeders are striving to retain the type, structure, and movement that made these versatile dogs able to herd and guard, as well as being loyal companions. The American Eskimo Dog should present a picture of strength, agility, and alertness, as well as beauty. The American Eskimo Dog has come to be known as the dog Beautiful, but he is more than just a pretty face. He should have a Nordic type head with erect triangular ears and black lips, nose and eye rims. His look should be keen and intelligent. He should be neither shy nor aggressive, although he can be conservative which is not to be faulted.

When a judge looks at an American Eskimo, whether it be a toy, miniature or a standard, he should see a compactly built, well balanced, alert dog. The dog should trot, not pace, with good forequarter reach and good hindquarter drive. Idealistically, the front foot, when extended fully, should be even with the nose. As speed increases, all sizes should single track with the back remaining level.

Proportionately, the American Eskimo Dog should be 1.1 to 1. The dog should be well angulated both front and rear, with sufficient length of body to allow for the breed standard's requirement of, "well balanced and frictionless movement." Judges should avoid dogs that are too short or too long, remembering that they should be "compact, but not cobby."

The American Eskimo Dog has a tendency to "steal the show" when he cocks his head, pricks his ears, and looks into one's eyes with that intelligent, mischievous look. So, I implore judges to not be taken in by that pretty face. Remember, the American Eskimo Dog is more than just a pretty face. He is a companion, a herder, and a guard dog. He is one of the most versatile and intelligent dogs a judge will ever have the privilege to see.

This year has been already an incredible year for travel for me between work and a wonderful trip to Roatan, Honduras with my best friends! By the end of May I will have traveled over 50,000 miles with out my kids. While I miss them dearly when I am gone I've got a list of what I do to prepare to leave that I go through in order to make sure that they are safe and I have peace of mind.

- 1) Make sure you have enough food for the entire time you're gone. Seems stupid right but I always get down to about a week before I leave and have to go get more food so we don't run out
- 2) Make sure you have a printed list of emergency contacts for your dog sitter. I have about 5 people on my list both local and out of state. Be sure to include your vet's name and number
- 3) Make sure the emergency contacts know you're out of town and that you've put them on your list
- 4) Make sure that you have the Emergency Vet location easily accessible
- 5) Put the names of your dogs on each of their crates. All white fluffy dogs look the same to people that don't live with them every day.
- 6) Have a discussion with your pet sitter about if something were to happen what they should do. This includes (god forbid) what to do if there is a serious injury. If you want them to follow your wishes you have to have the conversation.

All seems like common sense I know but it helps me keep organized when I leave. I'm lucky to have a wonderful and responsible pet sitter to come stay with my kids.

Since neutering my Loki, I have been looking for something we can do together that does not include the show ring and I ran into information on the Delta Society. I suspect most of you know all about it, but it was new to me.

Established in 1990, the Delta Society's Pet Partners Program trains volunteers and screens volunteers and their pets for visiting animal programs in hospitals, nursing homes, rehabilitation centers, schools and other facilities.

Delta Society's national network links volunteers with facilities in their own communities that request visiting pets and helps Pet Partners contact facilities to begin visits in new locations. Delta Society Pet Partners are in all 50 of the United States and in many other countries including Canada, Italy, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Norway and more.

Having started on this internet quest for information I have found many more therapy training sites, all emphasizing the comfort and health benefits of sharing an animal.

In the in the July issue of Journal of Gerontology: Medical Sciences, they used a scientific measure known as the UCLA Loneliness Scale to test 45 patients before and after the visits, concluding that patients who spent as little as half an hour a week with a therapy dog were significantly less lonely after only six weeks, when compared to a control group.

Nurses have noticed that after a therapy pet visit, patients sometimes have slower heart rates and they require less pain medication. These kinds of informal stories abound, but scientific studies of the effects of animal-assisted therapy are rare.

Researchers in St. Louis recently completed a rigorous, scientifically controlled study showing that brief weekly visits with a therapy dog reduced the loneliness of elderly patients in a long-term care facility. All the patients chosen for the study had indicated that they cared for pets earlier in their lives, and would like to do so again. (National Geographic Webnews, Thursday, October 28, 2010)

If you are looking for something to do with your dog, look into one of these therapy organizations, it may be just what you and your dog are looking for – a way to help others and enjoy the company of your pet.

The financial report for 3/15/11 is included in this newsletter. This is the period of time we have the majority of our income. The next 3 months is when we have some significant output with regard to insurance renewals, ballot mailings, etc. As you will note, we have some un-deposited funds in our PayPal account. Our account is set to allow transfer of $500 maximum in a 30-day period. With the heavy dues renewal these past two months, we exceeded our $500 monthly maximum in February and will transfer the remaining money later in March.

As of today, the new accounting program for NAEDA is still in limbo. I have the permission of the Exec Committee to purchase a new program, the hold up is what computer to run it on. The main problem is the old computer I have at home not being up to the task of the current software programs available. I'll get this worked out but it's taking longer than I really planned.

There are many ways to participate in NAEDA: donate a trophy for the Fall National Show, nominate a litter for the Futurity, Breeder Listing on NAEDA's website, AOM & AOMX recognition for dogs who meet the requirements. Information for all of these is available on the NAEDA website at www.naeda.org and in the newsletter.

Thank you to everyone who has renewed their 2011 dues! I think this was one of the most timely renewal "seasons" I've had with the NAEDA! Good job everyone!

As always, should you have a question for me just please ask.

Dog Treats

<http://allrecipes.com/Recipe/Diabetic-Dog-Treats/Detail.aspx>

Original Recipe Yield 2 pounds

Ingredients

1/2 cup whole wheat flour
2 eggs
1 1/2 pounds beef liver, cut into pieces

Directions

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F (175 degrees C). Line a 10x15 inch jellyroll pan with parchment paper. Place the liver into a food processor. Pulse until finely chopped. If you have room, add the flour and eggs, and process until smooth. Otherwise, transfer to a bowl, and stir in the flour and eggs using a wooden spoon. Spread evenly in the prepared pan.

Bake for 15 minutes in the preheated oven, or until the center is firm. Cool, and cut into squares using a pizza cutter. The treats will have a consistency similar to a sponge. Store in a sealed container in the refrigerator.
